RE: Freedom of Information Act 2000 Request

I write in response to your Freedom of Information Act 2000 (or 'FoIA 2000') requests dated 06/09/2021:

"Please send me the total costs for home working equipment for officials in your department since March 2020.

Please send me a list of all items for home working in your department since March 2020 which cost more than £1,000."

Which was later clarified as:

"The college as a whole, home working equipment is things like laptops, computers, chairs, desks etc. All staff please and yes individual items"

When a request for information is made under FoIA 2000, a public authority has a general duty under section 1(1) of the Act to inform an applicant whether the requested information is held. There is then a general obligation to communicate that information to the applicant. If a public authority decides that the information should not be disclosed because an exemption applies, it must, under section 17(1) cite the appropriate section or exemption of the Act and provide an explanation for relying upon it.

It is important to note that a freedom of information request is not a private transaction. Both the request itself and any information disclosed are considered suitable for open publication, that is, once access to information is granted to one person under the legislation, it is then considered public information and must be communicated to any individual should a request be received. In light of this, our responses and disclosures are published on our external website at a later date. This should be borne in mind where a request is made for personal data of named individuals.

Decision

After conducting careful searches for any information relevant to your request I can confirm that information is held. I will answer each part of your request below:

The total figure for homeworking since March 2020 until the date of your request is - £12,097.47. This figure excludes the amount spent on headsets for laptops. Narrowing down these figures may be considered too burdensome under the Act, as it would require a wide search across the organisation to retrieve the information. I can confirm the figure is inclusive of desks, chairs, pedestals and delivery charges.

I can also confirm that no single item has cost £1,000 during this period.
